

ANZGITA Receives JGHF Special Project Grant

In March 2016 ANZGITA received a Special Project Grant of US$10,000 (A$13,200) to support travel costs associated with our training programs. Some of the money will also be used to contribute to administrative costs, e.g. insurances, legal, communications and website. This grant is timely as we are looking to expand our activities in current programs and beyond despite budgetary reductions for government programs which in the past have supported our activities. Professor Macrae, our chairman, has expressed his thanks to JGHF on behalf of our members.

The Journal of Gastroenterology and Hepatology Foundation (JGHF) fosters research, education and training in gastroenterology and hepatology. With Wiley-Blackwell Publishing Asia, the publisher, it owns the Journal of Gastroenterology and Hepatology. We look forward to working with the foundation on initiatives of mutual interest in the future.